Child Protection Policy and Guidelines

A Code of Conduct for Basketball

Basketball is the national game. All those involved with the game at every level and whether as a player, match official, coach, owner, or administrator, have a responsibility, above and beyond compliance with the law, to act according to the highest standards of integrity, and to ensure that the reputation of the game is, and remains, high. This code applies to all those involved in football under the auspices of The Basketball England Association.

Community

Basketball, at all levels, is a vital part of a community. Basketball will take into account community feeling when making decisions.

Equality

Basketball is opposed to discrimination of any form and will promote measures to prevent it, in whatever form, from being expressed.

Participants

Basketball recognises the sense of ownership felt by those who participate at all levels of the game. This includes those who play, those who coach or help in any way, and those who officiate, as well as administrators and supporters. Basketball is committed to appropriate consultation.

Young People

Basketball acknowledges the extent of its influence over young people and pledges to set a positive example.

Propriety

Basketball acknowledges that public confidence demands the highest standards of financial and administrative behaviour within the game, and will not tolerate corruption or proper practices.

Trust and Respect

Basketball will uphold a relationship of trust and respect between all involved in the game, whether they are individuals, clubs, or other organisations.

Violence

Basketball rejects the use of violence of any nature by anyone involved in the game.

Fairness

Basketball is committed to fairness in its dealings with all involved in the game.

Integrity and Fair Play

Basketball is committed to the principle of playing to win consistent with Fair Play.

Coaches are key to the establishment of ethics in basketball. Their concepts of ethics and their attitude directly affect the behaviour of players under their supervision. Coaches are, therefore, expected to pay particular care to the moral aspect of their conduct.

Coaches have to be aware that almost all of their everyday decisions and choices of actions, as well as strategic targets, have ethical implications.

It is natural that winning constitutes a basic concern for coaches. This code is not intended to conflict with that. However, the code calls for coaches to disassociate themselves from a “win-at-all-costs” attitude.

Increased responsibility is requested from coaches involved in coaching young people. The health, safety, welfare, and moral education of young people are a first priority, before the achievement or the reputation of the club, coach, or parent.

1. Coaches must respect the rights, dignity, and worth of each and every person and treat each equally within the context of the sport.
2. Coaches must place the well-being and safety of each player above all other considerations, including the development of performance.
3. Coaches must adhere to all guidelines laid down by governing bodies.
4. Coaches must develop an appropriate working relationship with each player based on mutual trust and respect.
5. Coaches must not exert undue influence to obtain personal benefit or reward.
6. Coaches must encourage and guide players to accept responsibility for their own behaviour and performance.
7. Coaches must ensure that the activities they direct or advocate are appropriate for the age, maturity, experience, and ability of players.
8. Coaches should, at the outset, clarify with the players (and, where appropriate, parent/guardian) exactly what is expected of them and also what they are entitled to expect from their coach for example appropriate kit, safety equipment and attendance times etc.
9. Coaches must co-operate fully with other specialists (e.g. other coaches and officials) in the best interests of the player.
10. Coaches must always promote the positive aspects of the sport (e.g. fair play) and never condone violations of the Laws of the Game, behaviour contrary to the spirit of the Laws of the Game or relevant rules and regulations or the use of prohibited substances or techniques.

11. Coaches must consistently display high standards of behaviour and appearance.
12. Coaches must not use or tolerate inappropriate language.

Code of Conduct for Players

Players are the most important people in the sport. Playing for the team, and for the team to win, is the most fundamental part of the game. But not winning at any cost — Fair Play and respect for all others in the game is fundamentally important. Obligations towards the game a player should

9. If a player is disqualified from a game for any reason, then they will be issued a total £25 fine.
10. All fines must be paid at the beginning of the next session or game, whichever comes first. If a player receives a fine and it is not paid accordingly then they will not be selected and/or cannot participate in any training until the fine has been paid.
11. A player may be requested to appear before the Committee if the offences are repeated on a regular basis.
12. All players are expected to behave in respectable manner when representing the club at any event, both on and off the court and when wearing club teamwear.
13. The above fine can be appealed by the player if they set up a meeting with two or more members of the committee and a decision will be made from there regarding their total fine fee.

14. All players also agree to pay any Basketball England or Herts Basketball Association fine that is linked to them and the league they play in.

A player should

1. Make every effort consistent with Fair Play and the Laws of the Game to help his own team win.
